

BACKED BY PROOF! NOT BY CLAIMS!

At exactly nine forty o'clock on the morning of April 16th your Chief of Police, A. P. Richardson, and Advertising Manager John M. Richardson of The Courier-Gazette, sealed the meters depicted above—the one on the left being connected directly to a 40 watt lamp bulb and the one on the right to a new 1936 Frigidaire. Attorney Frank A. Tirrell, Jr., duly notarized the sealing.

This test is being run on a regular home usage basis. The Frigidaire was started up an absolutely warm unit as if just delivered to your home. A normal food load of vegetables, canned goods, meat, milk, ginger ale, and full trays of water were placed in the Frigidaire. Periodically during the day the door of the Frigidaire is opened to let in warm air and at intervals the ice trays are emptied and fresh water put in to make the test the more realistic and difficult.

McLennan Sales & Service cordially invites you to come in and see the results of this amazing Proof Demonstration—watch a mere 40 watt bulb "run away" from a big Frigidaire—verify for yourself the true economy that Frigidaire alone with its "Meter-Miser" can give you. Convince Yourself That You Should Buy On Proof—Not On Mere Claims and Besparkled Gadgets. 1936 is a Year of Proof in Refrigerator Buying.

THE COMMENTATOR

By Kerns Oliver

The League is a gaudy old man rapidly losing his prestige in both worried hemispheres. We can well shed crocodile tears for his uselessness, but we join with the rest of the world in sincerely regretting the severe illness of that grand old moss-back who promised so much. It seems the old fellow is on the danger list and cannot last much longer. Only a few days ago France threatened to give him up because he failed to respond to the Rhineland treatment; and now Great Britain seems to have lost faith in what failed to prove a worthy stooge. In other words, Eden, Britain's Foreign Secretary, feels that "unless nations (Italy, here) fulfill their duty of collective security Britain may lose her faith in the value of the League and turn to other methods of safeguarding her interests." The "other methods" she might use to safeguard her Tanager interests do not, in all probability relieve the Italian mind; although the "authoritative circles" state, reassuringly enough, that no threat of action by Britain against Italy was hinted at in Eden's speech.

So lingers on a magnificent bonehead, who, we must admit, has done one good deed, at least, before his possible demise—though what a perfect failure he has been with Japan, with Germany, and with Italy. Of the five Powers in Europe Germany has quit the League, Italy has ignored it, France has challenged it, and Great Britain has accused it. But his negotiations alone have held off a war in Europe, a war which might now have been raging again on the Western Front; a war as nightmarish as the tales of future science, where the roots of old Lorraine become a subterranean Hell with extensive railroads for transporting military supplies and cannon fodder, with tanks of sulphuric acid for "burying" the dead; where both sides of the Rhine gleam with helmets, and veterans of future wars (there would be few) face each other over the boundary as an angry dog faces an intruder.

Inasmuch as the system of the League itself is functioning we hear it is greatly distressed by gas. Foreign Secretary to Great Britain Anthony Eden could not pass over the alleged use of poison gas in silence, and Baron Pompeo Aloisi replied to the effect that, in view of atrocities to the invaders, it served the Ethiopians right. (Poison gas, we understand, chokes, blinds and otherwise mal-forms a disagreeable element.) In view of the anti-gas protocol of 1925 Italy is just another nation to tear up a treaty solemnly agreed to. Unpunished and in contempt of the League, Italy will emerge from all appearances, sooner or later, the victor; and the atrocities will be, for the time being, over. Which possibility should greatly rest the feverish mind of the League, whose conscience is irreproachable but hardly effective.

They are pouring down from the north—the refugees, and all Addis Ababa is begging protection in the fortified British legation. Death from the sky will rain onto the capital, they say. Death from poison gases and from bombs, from howitzers and Maxim guns. Death in a thousand different shapes—rumbling on lorries over the roads to the capital, astride big bombers in the heavens—grinning Death with a hand over the Ethiopian. No wonder they hang on the British doors for admittance.

But the League, ill and incompetent, shrugs and excuses itself by stating that the Rhineland crisis is a major issue, (leaving Ethiopia, evidently, a minor one.) And we feel that sooner or later the League will be called upon to handle this acknowledged "major issue." Then we may expect to recite eulogies over the body of what was so promising an outcome of the last war. (And may there be enough of them left to place over the grave a regretful wreath—"Here the League, Defunct.")

STRATFORD ON AVON

Celebrating the Birthday Of Its Immortal Bard, William Shakespeare

The eyes of the literary world, today, are focused on Stratford-on-Avon, which is celebrating the birthday anniversary of its most illustrious son, William Shakespeare.

"Stratford now is a favored tourist Mecca in England, but it has not always enjoyed such fame," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Reminders of Shakespeare Preserved

"It was just another market town of Warwickshire when the Domesday Book recorded the wealth of England. Its principal 'commodity' of modern times was not mentioned in the early lists of taxable commerce, for the name Shakespeare did not appear among those of its citizens until John Shakespeare moved to the town from the neighboring village of Snitterfield, in 1551.

"Now the town, grown to two or three times its size in Shakespeare's day, sells to tourists the satisfaction of having gone as far as travel will take one toward understanding the mystery of a world genius sprung from quiet Henley Street. Every reminder of Shakespeare is preserved. There is a Shakespeare Hotel, with rooms named for play. Curio shops sell models of the Tumble-down Stile where the poet scallawag was captured after his poaching expedition into Sir Thomas Lucy's deer park. Postcard shops quote King John, 'Have I not the best cards?'; and a postoffice substitution has been established near the Henley Street birthplace.

"Busily playing nursemaid to its favorite son, Stratford does little else. There is some brewing. On Tuesdays herdsmen of the district assemble for the cattle market held there since the days when the 'Rother Market' (horned cattle) gave its name to the town's largest square. On Fridays farmers bring in their produce, as John Shakespeare may have done before he moved to Stratford.

Jolly Legends, Ruled Out of Textbooks

"To be itself for the tourist trade, in spite of the tourist trade, is really Stratford's biggest job. To remain unchanged is a problem, with the constant additions of new hotels, apartment houses, shops with plate glass windows electricity and gas, and a railway station. The first observation of Americans, and their chief complaint, is that there are so many other Americans.

"For this constant stream of curiosity from abroad, Stratford cherishes everything linked with Shakespeare and even extends hospitality to traditions which historians scorn to record. This one may learn, is the chimney corner in which the young poet stoked his imagination with more than one of his elders' many 'winter's tales.' This is the heavy-raftered room of the Grammar School where, at a desk now removed from the northern end, he studied his disputed Latin and Greek—or looked out of the window beside him. This is the long room of the Guild Hall where he first encountered drama, in a play presented by traveling actors.

"The new Memorial Theater, of modernistic brick, with sliding stage floors and air conditioning, has been dubbed 'a jam factory on the Avon.' But its critics have been reminded that it departs from accepted ideas about theaters even less than the Bard ignored traditions of play-writing.

"Stratford, however, would be interesting if Shakespeare had not been born there. The Harvard House ancestral home of Massachusetts' famed University, is more interesting architecturally than the Henley Street shrine. The Red Horse Tavern is still warm with Washington Irving's appreciative glow. Holy Trinity Church and the Guild Chapel are among several fine relics of the Middle Ages. But if the boy Will had not run off to London, either because of a depression or a stolen deer, and fallen into the "bad company" of actors, not so many people would have come to Stratford-on-Avon."

RESCUED FROM MINE

The whole world is rejoicing today at the rescue of the two men who have been entombed in the gold mine shaft at Moose River, N. S. Dr. D. E. Robertson emerged from his underground prison at 12:44 this morning, and Charles A. Scadding was brought forth at 1 o'clock. Both were taken immediately to an improvised hospital. Scadding awoke at 6 o'clock and walked cheerfully about the hospital.

ROCKLAND LIONS

Frank A. Tirrell, the Guest Speaker, Endorsed For District Governor

The attendance at yesterday's meeting of the Rockland Lions Club was up in the 60's, the members being especially anxious to hear one of their own number, Frank A. Tirrell, who was scheduled to speak on a subject now uppermost in the public mind "The Social Security Act." Interpretation of the new measure requires a great deal of study, and Mr. Tirrell, called upon to give information in a professional capacity, has prepared a very careful digest. To do this justice in a limited space was not possible in this issue and the article will be given substantially in full in the Saturday edition. Needed to say, Mr. Tirrell received many expressions of praise for his effort.

The club was asked to endorse George W. Dyer of Camden for district governor, and thereby found itself in an embarrassing position, as the name of Frank A. Tirrell had been withdrawn on a former occasion with the tacit understanding that he would later be supported for the honor. Messrs. Dyer and Tirrell have both done much to foster the cause of Lionism. It was decided that the Rockland club would advance the cause of Mr. Tirrell.

The Club gave its endorsement to the request of the Four Counties' Club for the improvement of Route No. 1 from Brunswick to Bangor, with special recognition of the Court street plan between Brunswick and Bath. The Four Counties Club, organized for the purpose of getting something for this section of the State, will ask other service clubs to do likewise.

The Club gained two new members yesterday—Alden Ulmer Sr. and Percy Blaisdell.

Mother's Day will be specially observed May 6.

SO. THOMASTON STARS

Forgetmenot Chapter, O.E.S., South Thomaston is having the hearty cooperation of all its members this spring. A sewing circle is in progress prior to a fair which is to be held in the early summer. Members meet at the hall the first and third Mondays in the month. A social afternoon is spent in sewing, etc., and a supper is served. At the last gathering a most delicious lobster stew headed the menu and was supplemented with some of William Clement's famous potato chips. And a surprise dessert furnished by Victoria Clement, a most tempting dish, Indian meal pudding and whipped cream. Friday at the home of Victoria Clement the Improvement Society of the O.E.S. will have another social party. Everyone welcome. Various games, consisting of 63, bridge, beano, and one which the men are particularly interested in, "Hearts." And last but not least "Pool."

HENRY MOREY COLBURN

The sudden death of Henry M. Colburn, 66, a lifetime resident of Rockland and for the past 15 years an employee of the Knox Woolen Company of Camden brought sadness to many friends. A man of simple tastes, he was loved and esteemed by all who knew him. Services were held at the Colburn home Thursday Rev. J. Charles MacDonald officiating. The bearers were David Mann, Thomas French, Frank Kennedy and Mark Kimball, all fellow-workers. The many beautiful floral tributes bore evidence of his wide circle of friends, and were a great comfort to his family.

Mr. Colburn is survived by his wife, Maude A. Colburn, two children, Horace E. Colburn and Mrs. Vernon K. Wilson; and three grandchildren Farlyn L. Colburn and Betty and Keith Wilson; two brothers John P. and Willard C. and two sisters Mrs. Nellie Wiley and Mrs. Fred Thompson.

THE WANDER BIRD IS HERE

This Famous Schooner Has a Record and Every Plank Breathes Romance

A craft which has figured prominently in the world's shipping news ever since it went into commission, arrived unannounced at this port the other day, and yesterday was hauled out at the South Railway to have its bottom coppered and for the installation of a new mainmast. The spar measures 16 inches in circumference at the base and is 85 feet long.

The stranger is known as the schooner Wander Bird, soon to embark on her eighth annual summer cruise and a passage around the Horn to San Francisco.

The craft has a displacement of 140 tons, is 85 feet long, measures 18 feet, 6 inches on the beam and draws 10 feet, 8 inches of water. She is built of oak, is copper fastened and sheathed, and is electrically lighted. She will carry 20 persons comfortably.

This former pilot schooner made what is believed to be the fastest Atlantic passage ever recorded for a vessel of less than 100 feet in 1935 when her amateur crew drove her from Boston to Portland Pith in 16 days, 21 hours.

Capt. Warwick M. Tompkins, owner-master, has sailed the Wander Bird 80,000 sea miles since 1929 without a casualty. In 1936 he is making his 12th Atlantic passage, and his eighth annual cruise in this ship. His experience is world-wide and he has the reputation of handling his crew as well as he does his ship.

June 26 the Wander Bird sails for Tangier on a cruise which is scheduled to end Aug. 26. This is for men only with a minimum age limit of 16. This two months' cruise will take the Wander Bird to the Azores, Madeira, the Canary Island, Cadiz and Tangier. The passage home from Gibraltar will be in the liner Rex.

Sept. 1 the Wander Bird sails for San Francisco via the old clipper ship route, around Cape Horn, and this cruise is known as the "Cape Horn Adventure." Five men are wanted to share in it and the expense. This voyage is expected to terminate in mid-January.

Although experience at sea is completely unnecessary in an applicant no one not seriously in love with the sea and sail should ever contemplate a deep-water voyage in a relatively small ship, says the prospectus. A long voyage will bring, inescapably, some times of discomfort and hardship, trifling annoyances to those having the sea in their blood and an appreciation of the beauty, romance and adventure of a sailing ship and the oceans.

The Wander Bird will be at Snow's Yard at least another week, and those who like a touch of sea romance should drop down there and have a look at her.

HOSPITAL USING HUMIDICRIB

Device For Saving Prematurely Born Children—Loyal Women Raising Funds

Through the generosity of the Auxiliary, Knox County General Hospital is equipped to effect substantial reduction in the infant mortality rate of the premature baby. Previous to last October the care of these early arrivals left much to be desired. The method then used prohibited a uniform heat as well as selective humidity—two factors very important in the care of the premature baby. As an experiment, and through the interest of a Thomaston friend, a Humidicrib was placed in the hospital.

Shortly after its installment a less than five-pound baby was its occupant; this small mite slept and lived peacefully in the Humidicrib for two months, when she went home and where she continues to develop. At present another baby occupies the crib and the officials are reasonably sure she also will grow to be a strong child.

The original plans of the Humidicrib were developed in the Highland Hospital of Rochester, N. Y., where the need for an infant incubator that would provide selective atmosphere was recognized. The control of temperature is automatic at any desired point above room temperature and is controlled independently of humidity. Any desired percentage of humidity can be automatically maintained above room conditions.

When the Auxiliary met for its season's first meeting the Humidicrib was mentioned and regret was expressed that the finances of the hospital would not permit its purchase. A vote immediately pledged the members to work in groups and monthly provide the ways and means to keep this important piece of equipment in the hospital. To the credit of a fine group of women the purchasing price is almost in sight. The Hospital is grateful to the Auxiliary and speaks also the appreciation of these little children whose only language is a cry.

SPRING CONFERENCE

Rotary Meeting In Brunswick To Be Big Event Of Governor Bird's Year

Affairs are moving swiftly to make the spring conference of the 38th District Rotary Clubs a success. The event takes place in Brunswick May 17-18, and whole Rotary families are included in the scheme of things.

Speaking of the conference chairmen the circular includes "Governor Alan L. Bird of Rockland, who is putting heart and soul into this biggest Rotary meeting during his governorship.

Early plans include—Get-together supper Sunday evening; highly interesting conferences Monday with guest speakers of national and State distinction; bang-up luncheons Monday noon for Rotarians and their ladies; sightseeing trips about Bowdoin College, Casco Bay and lower Kennebec river regions; huge banquet and Governor's Ball Monday evening in the Bowdoin Gymnasium, with surprise features and modern dance-inducing music.

Local Fans Are To See Ad Zachow In Action Tomorrow Night

The middleweight boxing champion of New England, Ad Zachow, staging a comeback, will meet K. O. La Mouche of Waterville at the Rockland Athletic Club Friday night. Extra incentive for La Mouche to win is seen in this battle, as the Waterville boxer would be able to go places if he could emerge victorious.

The semi-final is in reality a main bout, as it will bring together Ken Pease of Warren, who outclassed Young Jack; and K. O. Dennis of Waterville, who says that Ken is what the doctor ordered for him. There is a belief among the fans that Pease has never been seen at his best here. Perhaps he will open up Friday night.

The preliminaries are: Popeye Manter of Owl's Head vs. John Boardman of Rockland, and K. O. Wooster of Owl's Head vs. K. O. Katy of Augusta.

If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness. —Charles Darwin.

WHEN YOU ARE OLD
When you are old and grey and full of sleep,
And nodding by the fire, take down this book,
And slowly read, and dream of the soft look
Your eyes had once, and of their shadows deep;

How many loved your moments of glad grace,
And loved your beauty with love false or true;
But one man loved the pilgrim soul in you,
And loved the sorrows of your changing face;

And bending down beside the glowing bars,
Murmur, a little sadly, how love fled
And paced upon the mountains overhead
And hid his face amid a crowd of stars.

The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage. —Ps. 16: 6.

Editorial

According to that reliable Augusta newspaper, the Kennebec Journal, the Democrats are not having an easy job to keep Androscoggin County in line, and they have a right to feel uneasy on that score as it was Androscoggin which figured so prominently in the Democratic victory of two years ago, and which has twice been responsible for the election of a Democratic Congressman from the Second District. There are abundant causes for Democratic discontent there at the present time, and what some of them are the average reader does not have to be told. From the Kennebec Journal's editorial we quote:

"It behooves the Democrats to get Androscoggin right first of all and this year it's proving a difficult task. First they had to keep Gov. Brann in the running and to do this Congressman Moran had to be sacrificed and F. Harold Dubord set back a notch from the candidacy for the United States Senate to that of governor. This was a bitter pill for many good Democrats to swallow but the powers that be considered it a fair enough price for the strength of Governor Brann, especially in his own important county.

With Moran out of the way, the general understanding has been that Dr. R. J. Wiseman would be his successor. That this was not unanimous opinion of Androscoggin Democrats is indicated by the unexpected defeat of Dr. Wiseman for mayor of Lewiston for the 10th time. Congressional interests figured so largely in the municipal campaign it hurt Dr. Wiseman's chances for promotion but he persisted and announced his candidacy for congress the moment Moran quit.

Androscoggin Democrats evidently have not rallied to Dr. Wiseman as expected for several other candidates have been active but without the official party endorsement. Now Former Mayor Ernest L. McLean of Augusta has thrown his well known hat into the ring and taken the pole away from all the other contenders. Undoubtedly he will benefit from the feeling of the state as a whole that so many candidates should not be elected in one county, even as important as Androscoggin. Although not nearly as Democratic, Kennebec County has almost as much power as Androscoggin and the two may fight it out behind Wiseman of Lewiston and McLean of Augusta, although this is not at all what party leaders would have if given their choice. So Androscoggin has not been looking as good as usual for the Democrats and seems to be getting worse and worse.

The new plan adopted by Quincy, Mass. may or may not increase the population of this fine industrial city, but it is at least a friendly gesture. New residents receive a friendly greeting from the mayor, and cards which entitle them to a number of desirable privileges including free greasing for the family automobile, and an alarm clock to awaken them in the morning. An old adage informs us that you can catch more flies with molasses than you can with vinegar.

If we were to express our honest opinion of the League of Nations it wouldn't be done in language that usually finds its way into a family newspaper like The Courier-Gazette. Its handling of the Italo-Ethiopian situation has disgusted every believer in fair play. If the League of Nations meant anything at all, it meant respect for the rights of all nations, and protection for the weaker ones. Even a crowd of toughs would not sit calmly by and watch a slugger beat a blind man, and the comparison is not overdrawn with relation to Italy and Ethiopia. The former is one of the world's leading military powers, armed and equipped to the minute; the latter is a semi-civilized nation equipped with archaic means of defense, and absolutely unable to guard itself against the shower of deadly missiles that have fallen from the skies onto warriors, non-combatants and hospitals alike. And the world has beheld this ruthless slaughter deriving small comfort from the weak statements of divided diplomats that the matter would be taken up a month hence. In a month's time there will be no Ethiopia. We never did want any part of the League of Nations and are rejoicing that today we are not entangled with that slow-minded, vacillating outfit.

"It is unthinkable that such a thing as abandoning the entire Quoddy project should even be contemplated," says the editor of the Press Herald. Unthinkable, too, that any government should have dumped twelve millions into the sea without assurance that the undertaking could be completed and some results obtainable. No wonder that the residents of Eastern Maine are sickened at the possible failure of their cherished hopes.

ONE OF THE VERY FEW

Boy Valedictorian Graduating From Wakefield High, Son Of Former Rockland Man

Those who will recall memories of Fred P. Wardwell, a native of Rockland, now living in Greenwood, Mass., will be interested to read an account of his son, Walter, which recently appeared in one of the Massachusetts papers.

"Walter Irving Wardwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred P. Wardwell of Greenwood, Mass., 17 years old, is one of the very few boy valedictorians to be graduated from Wakefield High School, being the second since 1919. This distinct honor was achieved with 700 points ahead of the others, regarded as an astonishing lead. At the High School every teacher who has taught him has nothing but praise for the Greenwood lad. The consensus among the faculty seems to be that he is modest, likeable, possessed with a good sense of humor, extremely versatile, undaunted by obstacles, willing, and applies himself to all undertakings, and possesses an exacting, retentive and scientific mind.

"In addition to achieving high ranking marks, Walter excels in many extra curricular activities, and is especially talented musically. He holds the position of bass drummer in the Boys Band and according to the director he has been the making of the band with his splendid work. Wardwell is also a gifted violinist and plays with expression and the delicate touch of a master. He is a member of the Boys Glee Club. Last winter he came into the public eye at spelling champion.

"At that time he won the Wakefield High School Junior Class award later he carried off the school championship and entered the Grand Statewide contest conducted in Symphony Hall, Boston. In Wakefield he won the championship in all junior entries. This fall he had a part in the senior class play, acting it well, and was featured in violin solos between acts. His latest achievement is being elected by an overwhelming majority of his classmates as editor-in-chief of the class year book. Walter will finish his education at Harvard University. His scholastic total at the Wakefield High School gives him 12 more credits than any other honor student."

Another article states that he has been chosen by the Hi-Y Club for a scholarship award entitling him to a tour abroad, and he will leave on July 7 to visit Scotland, England, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Germany, Poland, and Denmark.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

In common with other localities throughout the eastern part of the country, Rockland will go on daylight saving time at 2 a. m. Sunday, April 26.

Leforest A. Thurston, Mayor.

The National Union for Social Justice meeting will be held in the K. of C. hall tonight. Supper will be served from 6 to 7 o'clock. After the supper there will be a beano game. The meeting of the members will be called at 7:30. A musical program has been arranged.

Knox County Republicans who attended the recent State convention in Bangor will be interested to know that Senator Steiwer of Oregon, who was the keynote speaker on that occasion, has been selected as keynote speaker for the Republican National Convention in Cleveland.

Ralph L. Smith, who has been visiting his former home in New London, Conn., is today watching a Big League ball game in Boston. "Will be home in season to help pay for that turkey dinner," writes Ralph, who as a member of Team 2 in the Lions attendance contest, seems doomed to be on the losing end.

Mrs. Flora Ulmer is chairman of the annual banquet of the Woman's Educational Club to be held at G.A.R. hall May 1. Mrs. Ulmer's telephone is 781-1. All members not solicited for food will please take cake or pie. Supper is 35 cents for those not furnishing. The public is invited. The afternoon and evening meetings will be held as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Philbrick of this city attended church in South Somerville last Sunday, that town having been their former home. After an absence of 50 years they found none of the old familiar faces, but met many persons with familiar names which could be traced back to the grandparents known to Mr. and Mrs. Philbrick. Time makes many changes.

Rev. Forrest F. Fowle was transferred from Rockport to Winthrop and East Readfield by the Maine Methodist Conference and will be succeeded by Rev. Zebadiah Andrews, who will also supply South Thomaston and Spruce Head. Rev. Alfred G. Davis was transferred from Waldoboro to Brunswick, and is succeeded by Rev. Job R. Howse, who will also supply Winslow's Mills.

Captain William H. Wincapaw, veteran New England flyer, will be the guest speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Aero Club of New England to be conducted at the Boston Art Club tonight. He will relate some of the most interesting experiences of his 24-year career in aviation. Alan H. Andrews of Fall River, Mass., will serve as toastmaster. The Aero Club was founded in 1902 and is the oldest flying organization in the country. Captain Wincapaw is currently flying the huge Bellanca Airbus which is operated in the interests of La Tourette Coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Aime Beaudoin move this week from John street to apartments in the Hall house, South Main street.

The Garden Club will meet with Mrs. Charles H. Berry, Talbot avenue Tuesday at 2:30. Edward Johnson, assistant State horticulturist, will be the speaker.

All those interested in missions or temperance are invited to a meeting at Methodist vestry Friday night at 7:15. There will be open discussion on temperance.

Unusual interest centers around the meeting of Golden Rod Chapter O.E.S. Friday night, for two reasons. One is that the men will have charge of supper, with Walter C. Ladd and George L. St. Clair as chairmen, and the other is the entertainment program to be put on under the direction of Ralph U. Clark. Entitled "Safety Lodge No. 13, For Married Men," the program is a hilarious affair. There will be visiting chapters.

A large quantity of magazines left at this office the past few weeks has been turned over to the Maine Sea Coast Missionary Society, and with other reading matter has been distributed among lonely homes on the coast. A grateful letter from Rev. O. J. Guptill, the superintendent, has been received at this office, and the local contributors would feel well repaid if they knew the comfort the reading matter is giving. The Courier-Gazette will be pleased to continue as a clearing house for this worthy object. Friends of Supt. Guptill will be glad to learn that he is convalescing from an extended illness, and is able to walk out a little way each day.

The Elks have their regular meeting next Monday night, with supper at 6:30.

There will be a meeting of the School Committee Saturday night in the mayor's office.

Sanford E. Welt was recently operated upon at Knox Hospital. His condition is causing much concern.

The Third District Council meeting of American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Maine, will meet Monday at 1:30 at Thomaston in the Methodist Church, Hyler street.

Miss Hope Greenhalgh has a half dollar dated 1919. While not so old as some recently mentioned it is getting well along in years. Fancy a half dollar lasting that long nowadays.

"When Maine Used Whipping Trees," will be the subject of the D.A.R. broadcast from WHEB Friday at 4:15 p. m. Mrs. Editha Proctor, of Ranger Chapter, Portsmouth, will be the speaker.

The Knox County Medical Association dined Tuesday evening at the Copper Kettle with a large number of the members present. Papers were presented by Dr. Edward W. Risley of Waterville, Dr. Robert W. Belnap of Damariscotta and Dr. Thomas E. Proctor of Boothbay Harbor.

Two former pastors of the First Baptist Church, Rockland, will occupy the pulpit of the church in August, Rev. Benjamin P. Browne of Holyoke, Mass., Aug. 9, and Rev. William J. Day of Winthrop, Mass., Aug. 30. Rev. Harry C. Leach, of Hackensack, N. J., will probably serve the church Aug. 2 and Rev. Kenneth Cassens of Monticello one of the remaining Sundays. Rev. Mr. Leach is well known in this section, being the brother of Vesper A. Leach, Main street merchant. Mr. Cassens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Carl Cassens of Camden street.

The annual meeting of Knox-Lincoln Clearing House Association took place Tuesday night with dinner at Hotel Rockland. Camden, Rockland Thomaston, Waldoboro, Damariscotta, Wiscasset and Boothbay Harbor were represented in the gathering. Officers were re-elected, namely: Homer E. Robinson, president; M. R. Pillsbury, secretary-treasurer. The same board of directors will also function. The speaker was Ralph M. Binney of the Foreign Department of the First National Bank, Boston. Mr. Binney, having served considerable time in Europe, was able to present first hand information on the European situation, particularly along financial lines.

Miriam Rebekah Lodge met Tuesday with an afternoon card party in charge of Mrs. Annie Aylward, circle supper and an evening business session. Announcement was made of attending service at the Universalist Church Sunday morning, all members to meet at the hall at 10. A special sermon is being prepared by Dr. Lowe and there will also be special music. A good attendance of members is urged. Announcement was also made of the District meeting which takes place at Tenants Harbor May 14. PENOBSCOT VIEW GRANGE

WHEREAS, our Great Master who doeth all things well has removed from among us our brother, although only to long illness and suffering required his absence from us and his family, we can but say that we shall miss him.

He was a kind and loyal brother and husband and always willing to do his best to help those less fortunate than himself and did many acts that helped the Grange of which he was a loyal member.

Be it resolved that we most sincerely bow our hearts in sympathy with his bereaved wife and our sister in this time of most needful help.

Be it further resolved that we send a copy of these resolutions to our afflicted sister and that a copy be spread on our records.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

by
PENOBSCOT VIEW GRANGE

WHEREAS, our Great Master who doeth all things well has removed from among us our brother, although only to long illness and suffering required his absence from us and his family, we can but say that we shall miss him.

He was a kind and loyal brother and husband and always willing to do his best to help those less fortunate than himself and did many acts that helped the Grange of which he was a loyal member.

Be it resolved that we most sincerely bow our hearts in sympathy with his bereaved wife and our sister in this time of most needful help.

Be it further resolved that we send a copy of these resolutions to our afflicted sister and that a copy be spread on our records.

AT THE STRAND FRIDAY-SATURDAY

Ann Loring and Warner Baxter in "Robin Hood of El Dorado."—adv.

Lost from civilization for more than a month, a daring band of film adventurers led by Warner Baxter, star, and William Wellman, director, camped in the remote mountains of California to produce "Robin Hood of El Dorado," the spectacular new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature. The story deals with the adventures and romances of Joaquin Murietta, dashing good-bad man of the days of '49, who rode like an avenging scourge through the American gold mining camps, leaving a trail of plundered safes and broken feminine hearts. With the star is a notable cast including Ann Loring and Bruce Cabot.—adv.

GARDEN GOSSIP
by PETER HENDERSON

Roses

TO HAVE a good rose garden, we first of all must have good rose bushes to start with. A fair price must be paid if you want quality and this is as true with rose-bushes as with merchandise.

ROSES LIKE A clayey soil but it should be well broken up for roses need a good soil well drained. They cannot stand having their roots constantly wet.

THE POPULAR hybrid tea roses which are especially adapted to producing cutting roses over a long season, were originated by crossing the beautiful but tender tea rose with the hardier hybrid perpetuals. These roses are hardy enough to winter well in the latitude of New York, although late mulching is advisable.

MOST ever-blooming climbing roses need a year or two to become established before giving their best results.

PICK OFF faded rose blooms to prevent the ripening of seed. If the flowering stem is cut back on the hybrid teas, the new growth will often produce new blooms later in the season.

KEEP the rose roots covered at all times. More plants are killed by the undue exposure of roots at planting time than from any other cause.

IN SPRAYING ROSES, do it completely. It is a little tedious but to be one hundred per cent effective, both sides of every leaf should be sprayed.

IN HOT DRY WEATHER, water your roses by giving the ground a good soaking. Keep the water off the foliage as much as possible as it may encourage mildew.

THE INTENSITY of color in roses is apt to vary from season to season. A handful of iron filings in the soil around the roots will often keep red roses from bleaching.

DO NOT FEED your Rose plants late in the season, for late feeding encourages late growth of wood that may not mature properly and will possibly winter-kill.

X-RAY SYSTEM reveals vital hidden differences INSIDE low-priced cars!

You see with your own eyes the vital features that manufacturers LEAVE OUT of their low-priced cars but POINT TO WITH PRIDE in their higher-priced cars!

The X-Ray System will show you things that you've never seen before... vital, hidden differences INSIDE the low-priced cars. And it will show you, beyond all doubt, that Nash "400" and Lafayette are the ONLY cars in the low-price fields that are engineered, powered and lubricated exactly like the highest-priced cars. That they will run "sweeter" and keep their new-car "feel" long after other cars have failed.

See the X-Ray System at the nearest Nash-Lafayette showroom. The Nash Motors Co., Kenosha, Wis.

GOSS-PETIT

Well Known Granite Dealer
Brings Home a Bride
From Florida

The society page of the St. Petersburg (Fla.) Times of April 15 carried a news announcement of special interest to residents of Rockland and the Penobscot Bay islands. The story follows:

"Mrs. Grace Petit of Terra Alta, W. Va. became the bride of John L. Goss of Belmont, Mass., at a quiet ceremony solemnized yesterday afternoon by Rev. Dr. David M. Gardner at the Huntington Hotel.

"The bride wore a smart white matelasse crepe suit with a blouse of royal blue. Her hat was of white felt and her corsage of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Accessories were also of royal blue. Attendants were J. Lee Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Barnes.

"Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Goss were honor guests at a reception given in the Chinese room of the hotel. The refreshment table was attractively decorated in spring flowers and white candles and centered with a large wedding cake.

"Mr. and Mrs. Goss will leave next week by motor to spend the summer in Belmont and plan to return here next season.

Mrs. Goss has been hostess at the hotel this season and is a former resident of Hopemont and Weston, W. Va. Mr. Goss is president and owner of the John L. Goss corporation which operates granite quarries at Stonington, Me. He has been in the business for 45 years and the corporation has furnished some of the largest granite used in monuments.

With the Extension Agents — And The — Knox Lincoln Farm Bureau

Agriculture

If you see any chicks with A076 tattooed on their wing, you will know that they belong to the Knox-Lincoln Farm Bureau, for that is the registered number of that organization in this State. Anyone interested in looking over the new tattooing outfit that is being used by poultrymen of the State should drop into the Extension Office, Rockland (Post Office Building, second floor).

W. H. Little & Son, Rockland have bought an outfit and will tattoo all of their chicks this year when they are put on range.

Dealers in poultry, either live or dressed should watch out for tattooed birds. The mark will always be on the left wing.

A new bulletin is now available at the Extension Service Office, Rockland. The name is: "On Top Working Apple Trees." No. 177.

Many farmers in Knox and Lincoln counties have taken advantage of the Agricultural Conservation Act and have made out their work sheets and are planning to use lime and superphosphate on their land this year. These men will be reimbursed by the Government for doing this work. In order that a man may be eligible for this money he must make out a work sheet.

County Agent Wentworth will start orchard work next week. The schedule is: May 1, Hope, Wallace Robbins, 9 a. m.; F. M. Payson, 1:30 p. m.; May 2, Rockland, Julius Anderson's, 9 a. m.; May 4, Union, Frank Calderwood's, 1:30 p. m.; May 5, Orr's Corner, C. N. Light's, 9 a. m.; H. Meyers, 1:30 p. m. The schedule for the rest of the month will appear. Pruning and grafting will be demonstrated at these meetings.

A recent letter received from A. K. Gardner indicates that orchardists must look out for scab this year for in both Connecticut and Massachusetts scab spores have matured earlier than usual. This means using lime-sulphur as a delayed dormant or if oil is being used it should be combined with Bordeaux 4-4-50. WOSH Portland, will now broadcast the Maine Farm News at 12 noon instead of at 1:15. The special Agricultural Conservation Act series will be at the same time, 1:15.

It will soon be time to start bar-backs house test demonstration. In May birds to be carried for the year should be transferred to either brooder houses or to open air shelters. These shelters can be made either large or small. Wallace and Clifton Robbins, Hope are considering a larger one, 20x20.

Fruit trees bought through the state pool have arrived and are being planted by the men. McIntosh, Cortland, and Red Spy are the principal varieties.

With The Homes

Miss Edna Cobb, home management specialist, is starting a series of extension meetings on "Restful Bedrooms" next week. She will be at Nobleboro, Wednesday, at Mrs. S. T. Creamer's home. Thursday, April 30, the Rockland Farm Bureau will meet at Mrs. W. H. Little's. Miss Cobb will take up planning the color scheme and arrangement of furniture for the bedroom. She will also discuss points to look for when one buys new bed springs and mattresses.

"Easier Housework" meetings are to be held by Miss Lawrence, home demonstration agent, at Union, Tuesday and at Simonton, Friday, May 1. Mrs. Sarah Marcello and Mrs. Elizabeth Annis are on the dinner committee for the Simonton meeting which is to be held at the community hall.

Mrs. Susan Wotton is the leader of the "Let's Fix It" meeting to be held at Friendship at the Methodist

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking acids and wastes out of the blood. A healthy person should pass about 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, waste stays in the body and may become poisonous. It may start nagging backaches, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't let it lay you up. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

VISIT TO CARLSBAD CAVERN

Mrs. E. B. Hall Of Warrenton Tells the Story Of This Great Natural Wonder

The Courier-Gazette is happy to present the story of the famous Carlsbad Cavern, New Mexico, which was visited by Mrs. E. B. Hall of Warrenton Park during her recent trip to California and adjacent country. Needless to say, her story provides interesting reading:

"We visited Carlsbad Cavern on March 5 with 128 in our party," writes Mrs. Hall. "Trips through the Cavern are made daily, under the supervision of the National Park service. Parties start out with guides at 10:30 a. m., lunches being served at 12:30 in the spacious subterranean lunch-room. The trip terminates about 3 p. m., when the visitors have the choice of walking out or of coming to the surface on the recently installed elevator. The elevator fee is 50 cents a person, ascending from a depth of 750 feet. The temperature in the Cavern is 56 degrees Fahrenheit throughout the year. Admission fee is $1.50 per person, children under 16 free except elevator service. "We descended slowly into the Cavern, with the guide leading the way and describing the principal points of interest. We walked seven miles, entering rooms with colossal wonders, rooms with gleaming onyx suspended from the ceilings like mammoth, chandeliers; clusters of stalactites in every size and color. Walls that were frozen cascades of glittering flowstone. Jutting rocks that held suspended long slender formations that rang when touched like a key on a xylophone. A lake with pure water, as clear as glass, the sides lined with crystalline onyx marble.

The beauty, the grandeur and the weirdness of it all, absolved our minds of all thought of a world above our heads. "Some of the principal things to see in this glittering underground palace are: The Iceberg, The Green Room, King's Palace, Queen's Room, Frozen Waterfall, Jumping Off Place, Fairyland, Bottomless Pit, Wishing Well, Crystal Spring Throne, Mexican Hat, Overhanging Cliffs, Chinese Temple, Dome Room and Rock of Ages.

"Rock of Ages to most people is the most memorable formation seen during the Cavern trip. Each day at the base of The Rock of Ages, visitors are given a rest period during which one of the most impressive events of the entire trip takes place. The lights go off leaving everybody in total darkness—and 700 feet of stone over our heads—for five minutes, then gradually the lights come on slowly, a male quartet is heard off in the distance singing the lovely old hymn 'Rock of Ages,' and then the lights come on in full. The Rock of Ages in all its beauty is 30 feet high. It took years for this one formation alone.

"The Big Room: The view in the Big Room of this underground wonderland shows the Totem Poles which are 42 feet high and grouped around it are several stalagmites, many of them resembling blanketed Indians seated in council. Each day the visitors are assembled at this point and the entire room is illuminated by calcium flares of 50,000 candle power, which bring out the colors and details on the ceiling and walls of this enormous room. This Totem Pole group is 750 feet underground and approximately two and one-half miles back from the entrance of the Cavern. The guide told me that it was 70,000 feet around this huge room.

"The Jumping Off Place: This is at the end of a tunnel branching off from the Big Room, and from here one may look down into the lower Cave, some 900 feet below the surface of the earth. This lower cavern is several miles in extent and has not yet been fully explored.

"The Dome Room: This room branches off the Big Room, a short distance from the lunch room. It is a small chamber not over 150 feet long, but resembling in many respects a highly ornamented chapel. Many rooms of this size are found connected with the Carlsbad Cavern, but this being the most convenient is the best known. At the far end is a small opening known as the Back Door, or the Rat Hole, which many people delight to go through, in order to feel the thrill of cave exploration.

"The Ice Chamber: The Ice Chamber is about three miles back from the entrance and is about 900 feet underground. It is remarkable for its low ceiling. The stalactites are still growing and each one has a glistening drop of water on its tip. "The guide told me that the Carlsbad Cavern is the largest and best in the world. One person in our party was so enthusiastic that he said he would be willing to give a thousand dollars to see it. Carlsbad Cavern territory was declared a National monument, and it was so declared by President Coolidge on Oct. 25, 1929.

"In closing this description, which cannot half do justice to what I saw, it seems appropriate to give 'The Cavern Today,' by Jim White. "When 1927 rolled around, I began to see my dream of showing Carlsbad Cavern to the world materialize. People all over the world were hearing of it and coming to see it. During the next two years tourist facilities, equipment and improvements were carried out in leaps and bounds. More than seven miles of trails had been completed along engineering standards. Diesel engines and huge generators were installed and the soft glow from hundreds of electric flood lights replaced crude home made kerosene torches. A lunch room is equipped in the depths of the cave. The United States Government is getting the admission money, and in turn they appropriated even larger sums for developing the Cavern, along modern lines.

"The World today is seeing it with all the convenience and comforts, you can find in a New York hotel. Electric lights, trails as smooth and clean as a parquet floor, lunch, and steaming coffee at your finger tips when you get hungry, running water and a telephone clear to the back end and an elevator to carry you up when you get tired from walking.

"Carlsbad Cavern was first discovered in 1901 by Jim White, cowboy explorer and first promoter of Carlsbad Cavern. The entrance trails have been built by the U. S. Government, at a cost of thousands of dollars, and replace the old timber stairways which served for years. These easy walking trails are not only attractive with the nearby rocks and desert plants, but are inviting to the tourist as he starts his underground trip. The same type of trails continue throughout the Cavern.

"Bats—millions of little black mammals, whirling their way upward in a funnel-shaped cloud, that grew and grew until the topmost portion seemed to fuse into the hazy clouds of a New Mexico sunset, that was the spectacle which 30 years ago led Jim White to discover the colossal Carlsbad Cavern. It was actually an avenue that led Jim White through a 20-year struggle to draw attention to the world's most spectacular underground phenomenon—20 years of hard work, of privation, a continuous battle, to convince a nation of doubters that the Great Architect had created his greatest subterranean miracle below the cactus covered soil of southern New Mexico."

"WE MUST BE STERN"

Appleton Writer Expresses Sentiments In Regard To Hauptmann's Fate

East Appleton, April 21. Editor of The Courier-Gazette:— I was very pleased to note that the article written by Clytie Spear brought forth an answer. In regard to the Hauptmann trial, I was very interested in the case, and read much in papers and heard it over the radio. Kidnaping has reached an advanced and disgusting stage, and when we take into consideration the trouble, misery and expense of the Hauptmann case, the testimony of all the educated and trained experts, the judgment of those whose fair name and reliability we have no reason to doubt whose God was with them through many perilous flights through the heavens, the dark suspicions of the finding of the marked notes, hidden so jealously, the whole network of the irrational defense, should we set our judgment up in authority to question the validity of the verdict? Do we wish to cast reflection upon such noble people as the Lindberghs and Morrises, and say they do not know God?

I am an American. I also believe in the creed of Abraham Lincoln. The creed of all true Americans is for "God, Home and Native Land." I believe in the law to protect our land from kidnapers and murderers, in a law to protect innocent children. Why set ourselves up in direct opposition and criticize a just law that is in accordance with all honesty and sound judgment.

We wish to see "Right rule supreme and vanquish wrong." Mock heroism and criticism of such fine people as the Morrises and Lindberghs have proven themselves to be can never bring peace to our country, and establishment of a just law abiding nation, to our United States of America. We must be stern in our judgment of alien criminals who merit punishment.

I hope that Col. Lindbergh and family will return to their home.
